

The actual project itself came about one day I was playing with my grand daughter. She loves Minnie Mouse. I thought it would be an ideal choice. I had many intentions and ideas about this site but time didn't permit me to go too deep. I enjoyed the research and thought process though.

I got my images from the school library site <http://us.creativecommons.org/>. I did a search for Disney and came up with all the images.

My site has two spots with active jQuery. The ticket shows animation using jQuery and so does the circle images of the characters. I included an interactive image gallery. I was working on using the canvas tag, video tag, and the bar graph.

My github site is http://wterence73.github.io/WIA/Williams_Terence_WIA_The_Project.